

Course Catalogue - Spring '18

Online training from The Digital College

Employability skills

Level 1 Food Hygiene and Safety

Our level 1 food hygiene certificate course gives an introduction and basic understanding of food hygiene and is an essential starter course for people who wish to work in the manufacture, preparation and serving of food and food products.

Level 2 Food Hygiene and Safety

Our Food Hygiene Level 2 certificate course covers food hygiene, food hazards, food poisoning, how food becomes unsafe, personal hygiene, awareness of contamination, time and temperature factors, proper cleaning and sanitising, premises and equipment and food handling responsibilities.

Retail skills and values

This course gives the learner a good understanding of the need for excellent customer service and communication skills within the Retail sector. It goes on to give useful tips to improve and develop these skills.

Call/contact centre - an introduction

This online learning module provides a good understanding of contact centre operations - including the more traditional call centre. By the end of the course, you will be able to demonstrate an understanding of the purpose of a contact centre and the job role of a centre agent.

Customer service and care - an introduction

Customer Service is one of the most important aspects in any business. As such, this course has been designed to cover a range of areas, including the principles of excellent customer care; how to provide excellent customer care; and, how to communicate effectively with customers.

Restaurant hospitality

An online learning course to explain the basics in good hospitality skills and at the same time show how it can be equally useful for workers in other areas of hospitality such as bars, cafes and coffee shops. We will provide the information needed to help you give the best customer service.

Control of Substances Hazardous to Health (COSHH)

The COSHH course explains all the rules, regulations and good practices which cover the laws relating to the common hazardous substances found in most workplaces.

Safeguarding explained

This is our introductory unit for Safeguarding and is designed to provide candidates with a general understanding of the concept of safeguarding of vulnerable adults, children and young people.

Safeguarding vulnerable adults

This Safeguarding of Vulnerable Adults (SOVA) course is designed to help those who work with vulnerable adults increase their knowledge on such an important subject. Safeguarding adults is everyone's responsibility and having a thorough understanding is invaluable.

Safeguarding children and young people

Our safeguarding children course is essential for anybody who works with the young. This safeguarding course will help you understand your role and responsibilities, and support you in feeling confident in carrying out appropriate actions should you have any concerns.

Employment support

Planning to start your own business

This course is designed to help you understand the challenges of starting a new business and give you some guidance about how to turn your ideas into a simple plan. It is also about setting the aims of your business and realistic expectations for what is required to meet them.

Money Sense

The Money Sense course is designed to give the learner a good understanding of personal finance and to help them to reach a realistic and effective balance between the money they have coming in, and money they have going out.

An awareness of Mental Wellbeing in the Workplace

As well as explaining what is meant by the terms "Mental Health" and "Wellbeing", the course aims to raise awareness of common mental health issues and provides suggestions of what to do if/when working life is affected by a manageable mental health condition, such as stress or anxiety.

Managing Mental Health and Wellbeing at work

This online learning resource offer practical guidance for people whose working life is being affected by a manageable mental health condition, such as depression, anxiety or stress.

Construction

Level 1 Health and Safety in a Construction Environment

This Level 1 qualification is for learners who currently work, or want to work, in construction. Successful completion will enable you to move on to take the CITB health, safety and environment test, and then apply for the Construction Skills Certificate Scheme Green Card.

Manual Handling

This course is designed to give the learner a good understanding of how to safely undertake a manual handling operation. It covers topics including: what is manual handling; the legal requirements behind manual handling operations; risk assessment; manual handling techniques; etc.

Asbestos Awareness

Our introductory learning module on Asbestos Awareness provides employers and employees with a general understanding of what is needed to comply with legal requirements and health and safety best practice when working with asbestos-containing materials.

Control of Substances Hazardous to Health (COSHH)

Often referred to as COSHH, this course aims to explain all the rules, regulations and good practices which cover the laws relating to the common hazardous substances found in most workplaces. This course is beneficial to a wide variety of industries including roles in healthcare, cleaning, agriculture and manufacturing.

Understanding of REACH (Management of chemicals)

This course gives the learner a basic understanding of the regulations that have come to be known as REACH. That is, the registration, evaluation, authorisation and restriction of chemicals.

Working at Height

Working at Height training is a key requirement of many industries and job roles. This course defines "working at height", offers an overview of health and safety requirements and details best practice for those working even a small distance above the surface.

PLUS CSCS Labours Card - We can provide and process all the requirements to obtain a CSCS Green Card for your candidates.

Healthcare

A Guide to Nutrition and Health in Older People

Our web-based training course provides a general understanding of the nutritional requirements of older people. It covers nutrition, food types, choice and variety and exercise.

A Guide to Dementia Awareness

This course provides an excellent understanding of issues around dementia. It covers topics including: what is dementia and who tends to be affected by it? Signs and symptoms of dementia; communicating with people; and understanding and respect.

A Guide to the Mental Capacity Act 2005

An online module which covers the Mental Capacity Act (MCA) 2005 and examines, amongst others, such topics as: what is the MCA and who does it cover; statutory procedures within the Act; decision making and how to decide what is in a person's best interests.

Understanding Diabetes

This course gives the learner a general understanding of diabetes - what it is, the signs and symptoms associated with it, and how to help someone who is experiencing a diabetes attack.

Understanding Epilepsy

In this course, the learner will be introduced to why epilepsy happens; the process of diagnosing epilepsy; various types of seizures, including symptoms; treatment and management of epilepsy; and the need to provide an accurate description of observed seizures.

Infection Control

Our "Infection Control" training provide the learner with an excellent understanding of the importance of infection control in a healthcare environment. It covers the three main stages that are crucial for effective control.

Handling and Administering of Medicines

The purpose of this course is to provide guidance for people in every aspect of health care who are involved in the handling and administering of medicines. The course sets out the principles of appropriate handling of medicines and explains how these apply.

Information Governance in Health and Social Care

The learner will gain a good basic knowledge of the importance of maintaining a high level of confidentiality when it comes to the handling of patient-identifiable information.

Employee Health, Safety and Wellbeing

Health and safety awareness for employees

This course gives a general understanding of the requirements and responsibilities that employees have in respect of health and safety at work. It highlights the additional responsibilities that an employer has to ensure a safe workplace.

Lone working

Lone working is covered by health and safety laws and this training highlights the requirements; such as the importance of conducting a risk assessment before every lone working episode. It demonstrates what should be involved in a risk assessment and discusses ways of reducing possible risk

Stress Awareness and management

Our online learning module provides the learner an understanding of what we mean by stress and the typical causes of stress. It goes on to increase the learner's awareness of the signs of stress and to develop strategies to manage it.

Handling and Resolving Conflict

In this course the learner is introduced to what we mean by the term "conflict"; how to deal with problems positively; how to deal with abusive and violent behaviour; methods for resolving conflict: and how to handle complaints.

Learn anywhere, anytime

The complete accredited vocational training platform for employment support providers

Easy to use

Our web-based platform is designed with both the learner and the support provider in mind. Learners benefit from a simple website that delivers training with the minimum fuss to desktop and mobile devices.

Support providers have access to a more powerful administration portal that simplifies management and reporting of learners, branches and courses.

Accredited quality learning

The Digital College prides itself in the quality of our online learning. Our courses are extensively researched and scripted, producing courses with real education value of between 30 mins and several hours. These courses come with progress quizzes and an end of course assessment. We offer accredited courses to demonstrate the value of learning to our training partners and candidates alike.

Motivating learners

We place learners at the centre of our plans and aim to make online learning as accessible and rewarding for all. Motivating candidates to complete courses and continue learning is a key feature of our approach.

Successful candidates receive on-screen prompts and digital certificates for immediate printing. We can also offer official paper certificates from awarding bodies to provide extra motivation.

